PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT and his daughter, Mrs. Barbara St. Laurent, arrives at 10 Downing street to attend a dinner given by the Winston Churchill for Commonwealth Prime Ministers attending the London Conference.

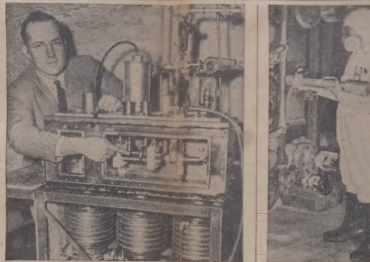

AERIAL ACTION—Who's mucking when is this British soccer match? The referee calls a foul against Ron Hopton, left in air. Tottenham's goalie as he defended the net against flying Port Vale attacker.

ARISTOTELICALLY INCLINED—Onizuka, right, tries to pose like Verrocchio's statue during a visit to the National Gallery of Art in Washington. He was on a tour of the gallery with a woman.

F.N.F.s FOR DAIRYMEN—Pollsters would probably find that erroneous calendar entries run a poor ghost these days as put-up favorites in the eyes of dairymen. Many more negative curves are than envisioned by milk producers on future milk charts as word politics agrees last their facts to milk-consumption programs. At left, Premier Pierre Mendes-France registers enjoyment of milk during his campaign to increase its consumption and decrease the intake of alcoholic beverages in France. West Germany's chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, center, holds a glass carton of milk, one of many from all dairymen's of West Germany. And Agriculture Secretary Ross Tull Brown, right, looks a little sad at 10 more than 1,000,000 plots of milk consumed in Chicago, Ill., under the government's school milk program.

AYON-ADE PLUMBER—Professor Charles H. Townes, of Columbia University, points to mechanism of his "atomic clock," a device as accurate as it is expected not to move more than one second from correct time in 300 years. Called "Maser" for its function, "Microwave Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation," it uses energy radiated by molecules of ammonia as its timing standard. Expected to play a role in navigation and astrophysical study of molecular structure, the device may be used to solve the age-old riddle as to whether the earth is slowing up or increasing its rate of rotation.

NATIONALIST CHINESE TROOPS of the Psychological Warfare Corps infuse billions from a hydrogen tank on the Tachien Kiang in Peking. The soldiers, wearing special suits as Long Live Free China and Stand By Our Leader bear over the Communist China Mainland.

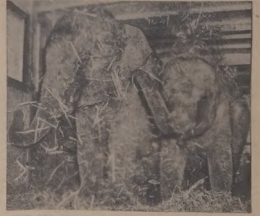

LT. CHARLES RON-BREATH of Courtney, B.C., and William Watson of Port Moody, the two British U.S. Corpsmen who were they are temporarily stranded. The Canadian pilots, on exchange with the U.S. Navy, were ground the carrier when it was diverted suddenly to Panama. The navy says the Canadians won't be involved if hostilities break out between the United States and the Chinese Communists.

"THIS ONE WILL REALLY SLAY YOU"—Dr. William A. Brown, of Detroit, Mich., exhibits a "sized" item of his extensive gun collection as victim there's ready to take with. A 14-caliber pistol barrel is tilted into the scroll; trigger protrudes from underside of body and locking hammer is fastened to removable part of the scroll. The instrument, at least 25 years old, is believed to have been fashioned in Pike County, Ky., about of the legendary "four" member.

THE SWANK SHOWROOMS of Minneapolis and Copenhagen, tonight fashion designers, in the fashion show, a play from a designer's sketchbook, for all of the models are dressed in weird monograms with the bodies of women and animal heads. This eccentric beauty wears a strange white skin garter with bodice and oval eyes of rich golden embroidery.

JUST FOR FUN—Two exuberant elephants, above, greet the photographer with thousands of swarms when they arrive in the United States from Germany; as they enjoy one last thing in New York City before going to work for an American circus. Also for fun is the stress-in-the-wind, below, from the latest Path spring collection in Paris, France. The price tag, by the way, is $100,000, more is the hat, for it's actually woven of natural-color radia.

CAT'S MEOW—Marjorie Adelle August at "meow" gives the Hollywood, concerned, as comes for taking her picture. She's eating kitty in a dish in anticipation of an attempt to pass a cat-control law.

or Irish pretensions will look for a bit of shamrock and bid memory of the island, the irrepressible Irish and the good saint himself whose good deeds are remembered after three or four hundred years.

THE WELFARE STATE
Those who oppose the welfare state are often unjustly accused of callous indifference towards the plight of the poor and needy. Health and Welfare Minister Martin found himself in this position when the CCF proposed increases in family allowance payments.

Mr. Martin chose to justify his refusal to increase family allowance payments on the ground that the Canadian economy could not stand the burden of further increasing social security payments already mounting at the rate of several millions yearly.

In rejecting the CCF proposal on economic ground, Mr. Martin was entirely justified. Unfortunately, as one of the chief architects of a welfare state in Canada, the Health and Welfare Minister was unable to point to the lack of a means to the great obstacle to helping those who are most in need. Doctors do not give pills to everybody because a few are sick. Ottawa, however, has chosen to give family allowance to everybody despite the fact that only some are in need of such assistance.

THE GREAT SATISFACTION

This is the week when all those people who live from the little town of Hanna will celebrate the day of their patron saint and shamrock will dominate the decorations and cards, sharing the honor with pink and green ribbons while great numbers of persons will, with gratitude of a man who drove the macker from his homeland.

These are the traditions and the first thoughts to come to mind. Yet Saint Patrick was not Canadian.

Moved while he was in St. Martin's Abbey at Tours to undertake the conversion of the pagan Irish, this monk who had been sold into slavery to an Ulster chieftain and subsequently sold to France, found himself over 360 churches, baptized with his own hand more than 12,000 persons and ordained a great number of priests. He made his bed at Armagh about 450 years ago. Armagh is now an episcopal city and is preserved in a "Confession" and is a relic of the great saint.

Barbarous Latin, both written in barbarous Latin and of historical value.

But whether or not he is claimed, doubt not all the venerable creatures in the island are still true to the day when all those with Irish blood

Soil Fertilizers

Conservation of soil fertility is one of the great roles of fertilizers on farms of the Canadian Prairies. The Canadian Fertilizer Company, Chemical and Fertilizer Sales Division, the Council of Fertilizer Manufacturers and the Canadian Fertilizer Company of Canada, Limited, Calgary, have issued a booklet, "The Fertilizer Manual," which contains information on the use of fertilizers on various crops and on the proper application of fertilizers to the soil. The booklet is free of charge and can be obtained by writing to the Canadian Fertilizer Company, Calgary, Alberta.
